Empowering those who think and learn differently.

The Davis® Stepping Stones Workshops

The Davis® Stepping Stones Workshops offer Davis methods in a form specially tailored to the needs of parents, educators, therapists, and caregivers of younger autistic individuals who may be facing challenges in meeting early childhood development milestones, as well as those with limited language abilities, of any age.

Grounded in our philosophy of celebrating neurodiversity, these workshops empower you with insights and innovative strategies to unlock potential and foster growth from the earliest developmental stages.

Workshop Format

Davis Stepping Stones is a transformative two-day (equivalent) experience guides you through every aspect of the Davis® Stepping Stones program, equipping you with practical techniques tailored to the specific needs of these individuals.

Davis Stepping Stones 2 is a one-day (equivalent) workshop that builds on the first workshop exploring further concepts in a way that best suits the young or non-speaking individuals.

This comprehensive training will enable you to effectively implement the Davis Stepping Stones program with confidence to a young child, autistic child or a non-speaking autistic individual of any age, whether at home, school, or in a therapy setting.

With limited group size to ensure the highest quality of training, each day of the workshop is meticulously structured to cover essential topics, delivered through clear explanations, engaging demonstrations, Q&A sessions, and hands-on individual and pair-work practice using our signature clay modeling approach.
